THE POSTING ASKS FOR	ALEX'S STRONGEST EVIDENCE		HOW TO HANDLE IT
5+ years of related experience	8 years: 5 in-house, 3 at an agency	STRONG	Lead with the agency years; it's a listed plus.
Portfolio of innovative concepts	Fable Foods rebrand; Harbor Tea launch campaign	STRONG	Open the portfolio with campaign work (see 03).
Clean, modern aesthetic and strong typography	Custom type system for the Fable rebrand	STRONG	Show one type specimen page.
Brand standards, consistent results	Kept a 40-page system consistent across 32 SKUs	STRONG	Put the SKU count in the first bullet.
Own ideas from process to execution	Led the Fable rebrand end to end	STRONG	Say what you decided, not just what you made.
Mentor designers	Managed two juniors for 18 months	STRONG	Add one line on how they grew.
Automation and AI fluency	Figma variables; scripted ad resizes for one launch	PARTIAL	Show the resize script as a short case: hours saved, units shipped.

02 Keywords

Covered

brand language, campaigns, OOH, landing pages, presentation decks, sales sheets, social visuals, typography, brand standards, mentoring, concept to completion, agency

Missing

Media kits (true: made one for Harbor Tea; add it). Ad units (true: say "ad units", not "banners"). AI fluency (true but thin: add the resize script). Nothing to leave out.

03 Portfolio: lead with these

01 Harbor Tea launch campaign

The role is campaign-heavy: OOH, landing pages, social, ad units. Frame it as "one idea across eight formats."

02 Fable Foods rebrand
Answers "evolve the brand language." Frame it as "a system that shipped across 32 SKUs in nine months."

03 Sales deck and media kit
Decks, sales sheets and media kits are named in the posting. Show the before and after.

> Hi, I just applied for the Senior Brand Designer role. I've spent eight years on brand and campaign work, most recently a launch that ran across OOH, social and landing pages from one system. Remote's brand is clear and confident, and I'd love to help it carry into more formats. Portfolio: alexrivera.design

05 Interview stories

Campaigns	Harbor Tea needed a launch in eight formats with a small team. Built one key visual and a template set, then art-directed a freelancer. Shipped OOH, social and landing pages in four weeks.
Automation	A launch needed 60 ad unit sizes overnight. Wrote a Figma script to resize from one master. Cut the work from two days to two hours.
Mentoring	Two junior designers were stuck on production work. Gave each a system piece to own and weekly crits. Both led their own lines within a year.

06 Questions to ask

01 How is time split between campaign production and evolving the brand?
Tells you which half of the posting matters most.

02 What does the small challenge look like, and how long should it take?
Step 3 of their process; ask early so you can plan.

07 Their hiring steps

- 1–2
  Recruiter, then hiring manager
- 3
  Small challenge: reuse the Harbor Tea story's structure
- 4–7
  Brand Design Manager, team (no managers), bar raiser, employment check
